Dear Hiring Manager,

I am writing to express my strong interest in the Intern – Frontend Developer position at Kensington. As a software engineer with a growing focus on modern web technologies, I am excited about the opportunity to contribute to building high-quality, user-centered digital experiences for a global travel platform.

I have hands-on experience developing responsive and mobile-first web interfaces using HTML, CSS, JavaScript, and React. I am currently strengthening my skills in Next.js and modern frontend workflows, and I am comfortable working with Git and GitHub for version control and collaboration. Through my projects, I have learned how to structure clean, maintainable code while ensuring performance and usability remain top priorities.

Beyond coding, I am deeply interested in user experience and web performance. I pay attention to detail when building interfaces, ensuring they are intuitive, accessible, and engaging. I am also eager to continue learning about SEO, accessibility standards, and Core Web Vitals, which I understand are essential for delivering impactful web applications at scale.

What draws me most to Kensington is your mission to create highly personalized travel experiences powered by technology and human expertise. The idea of contributing to a platform that helps people explore the world in meaningful ways is truly inspiring. I am particularly excited about working with modern technologies like React and Next.js while collaborating with a team that values innovation, continuous learning, and measurable impact.

I am a motivated, adaptable, and curious learner who is always ready to take initiative and grow. I would welcome the opportunity to contribute to your development team, support ongoing projects, and gain valuable experience in a fast-paced, collaborative environment.

Thank you for considering my application. I look forward to the opportunity to discuss how my skills and enthusiasm align with Kensington’s goals.

Sincerely,
Kuete Koudazem Valdo
